WHAT IS PERSONAL DATA

Personal data is information that can be used to help identify an individual, such as name, address, phone number or email address. Some categories of data are more sensitive and are referred to as special category data, including health information. Non-personal data is data that cannot identify you personally, but can provide us with information to improve our services.

THE INFORMATION WE COLLECT

We collect information when you interact with us in order to meet the aim of the Charity.

We collect three kinds of information

1. Non-personal information

Such as IP addresses (the location of the computer on the internet), pages accessed and files downloaded. This helps us to understand how many people use our websites, how many people visit on a regular basis and how popular/useful our web pages are. This information doesn't tell us anything about who you are or where you live.

2. Personal information

We will ask you for information in order to provide you with the services requested, for example to send you information or process a donation.

3. Sensitive personal information or special category data

We may ask you for information about your health, for example, if you or a family member are living Behçet's, so that we can provide you with relevant information and support or in order to support your safe participation in an event. We may also collect this information if you make the information public or if you tell us about your experiences relating to Behçet's (for example, if you agree to share your story with us). We only collect this information with your consent.

Under 16s

We are committed to protecting the privacy of the young people that engage with us. If you are under 16 and would like to get involved, please ensure you have consent from a parent or guardian before you provide your personal information to us. We do not send any marketing communications direct to children under 16.

Information from third parties

We may also receive information about you from third parties if you have given them permission to share this information and indicated that you wish to support Behçet's UK, for example, if you set up a fundraising page for us with JustGiving, Virgin Money Giving or Facebook, sign up to an independently organised event like the London Marathon or Ultimate Challenge.

Depending on your settings or the privacy policies for social media and messaging services, we may access information from those accounts or services.

Understanding how we can improve our services, events, products or information

We believe it is important to make sure that all of our services are the very best they can be, which is why we evaluate them. You don't have to take part but it's really valuable to help us improve in the future.

Safeguarding

Safeguarding is everyone's responsibility, and therefore we have a duty, wherever possible, to share any concerns that we have about conversations, emails, posts, messages or comments that indicate you or someone else might be at risk, with the relevant services. This includes reference to abuse or neglect.

Though we will always try to share our concerns with you, we reserve the right to share information with external agencies without checking first; especially if it is thought that by sharing our concerns this might put others at risk, or increase the risks identified.

HOW WE MAKE SURE IT IS LEGAL TO PROCESS DATA

The law requires us to set out the lawful grounds on which we collect and process your personal information as described in this policy. Depending on the purposes for which we use your data, one or more of the grounds listed below may be relevant.

Where it is needed to fulfil our contractual obligations

The data processed to meet contractual responsibilities includes, but is not limited to, data relating to employment records, fulfilling merchandise orders, applying for a grant from us.

Where it is in our legitimate interests to do so

In certain instances, we collect and use your personal information by relying on the legitimate interest legal basis. In broad terms, our 'legitimate interests' means our interest in being able to run Behçet's UK as a charitable entity effectively in pursuit of our aims and ideals. This includes:

- Providing information about Behçet's.
- Processing donations.
- Administering events.
- Staff recruitment and taking applications for volunteers and contacting volunteers about their role.
- However, 'legitimate interests' can also include your interests, such as when you have requested information or certain goods/services from us, and those of third parties.
- To continue processing personal data on an individual who has exercised their right to erasure/to be forgotten. We will need to keep basic data to identify that individual and retain it solely for suppression purposes to prevent further unwanted processing.
- To follow guidance and recommended best practice of government and regulatory bodies.
- For management and audit of our business operations including accounting.
- To carry out monitoring and to keep records of our communications with you and our staff (see below).
- If we rely on the 'legitimate interests' basis to use your personal information, we will only use the information in accordance with the purposes described in this policy.

When we legitimately process your personal information in this way, we also consider and balance any potential impact on you (both positive and negative), and your rights under data protection laws. We will not use your personal information for activities where our interests are overridden by the impact on you, for example where collection and use of your information would be excessively intrusive (unless, for instance, we are otherwise required or permitted to by law).

To comply with our legal obligations

We may need to collect, process and disclose personal information to comply with a legal obligation. For example, where we are ordered by a court or regulatory authority or we are legally required to hold donor transaction details for Gift Aid or accounting/tax purposes. We may also use personal information to cross check and prevent known malicious activities on Behçet's UK's websites.

With your consent

In many instances, we will rely on obtaining your consent to our use of your personal information in a certain way (for example, asking for your consent to use your personal information to send you marketing information by email and to share sensitive personal information with us).

STORING YOUR DATA

When you give us your details, you agree to us recording your details on our secure database, so we can provide you with the best possible service every time you contact us. We hold your personal information for as long as required to provide you with the information or services you have requested, to administer your relationship with us, to inform our research into Behçet's, to inform our supporters' preferences, to comply with the law or to ensure we do not communicate with people who no longer wish to hear from us.

Behçet's UK holds its data on a secure database and access to this system is limited and there is restricted access to data based on a person's role in the organisation.

Some organisations which provide services to us may transfer data outside the EU. All of our current suppliers adhere to the EU-US Privacy Shield. Find out more: <https://www.privacyshield.gov/welcome>

Your details will be kept securely and only shared with trusted suppliers, who have a contract with us, who enable us to deliver our charitable objectives, for example, distribution of our newsletter or if required to by law, i.e. with the police or a regulatory body. At all times we remain legally responsible for your data. We do not sell or share your personal information for other organisations to use.

How long do we keep your personal information for?

Unless we explain otherwise to you, we'll hold your personal information based on the following criteria:

- for as long as we have reasonable business needs, such as managing our relationship with you and managing our operations;
- for as long as we provide services to you;

- retention periods in line with legal and regulatory requirements or guidance.

COMMUNICATING WITH YOU

We may send Members and Associate Members of Behçet's UK direct mail or emails, including our quarterly newsletter, which will include updates on our work - the research we're funding, the information and support services we offer. We may also contact you about fundraising, campaigning and events. We do not ask for consent to write, email or call you about these things, because, as a charity, each of these activities is fundamental to how we work, so we have a legitimate interest to contact you. However, you have the option to opt-out of receiving marketing communications by post or phone at any time. Contact our Administration team by writing to us at Behçet's UK, Kemp House, 152-160 City Road, LONDON, EC1V 2NX, emailing us at info@behcetsuk.org or calling us on 0345 130 7328.

You can unsubscribe from receiving emails at any time by clicking on the unsubscribe link in our marketing emails. Our mass email service allows us to track who has opened our emails including newsletter and what links have been clicked on. This allows us to monitor what information is most useful to improve our content and information in future.

If you have indicated you do not wish to be contacted by us, we will retain your details on a 'do not contact' list to help ensure that we do not contact you accidentally. However, we may still need to contact you if you carry on dealing with us, including (but not limited to):

Marketing communication

We never sell personal information about our members or supporters to any other organisation.

We will not call people who are registered with the Telephone Preference Service (TPS) or companies registered with Corporate TPS, unless those people or companies have consented to be called by us.

We may use the personal data you have provided to us via one platform (such as on our website, via email or on a social media channel) to send you personalised content and messaging on another. Examples of this activity include using our website cookies and social media advertising.

COOKIES AND OTHER ONLINE TECHNOLOGY

We may use cookies, web beacons, and similar technologies to collect, use and share certain information about your device(s), your use of our websites, app(s) or services.

Cookies

Web Beacons

We use Mailchimp, which is a web based email service provider, to send out mass emails such as our e-newsletter, important communications and marketing. Emails sent by Mailchimp use email tracking technology to help provide you with the best experience we can.

The technology places an invisible single pixel gif image (also called a web beacon) in emails to detect when they have been opened and when links within emails have been clicked. Web beacons allow us to collect information about when you open the email, your IP address, your browser or email client type and other similar details. We use this data to create reports about who has or hasn't opened emails or clicked links and this information helps us to improve our email content so you receive more useful and relevant information from us.

Links to other websites

Our website contains links to and from the websites of other relevant stakeholders. If you follow a link to any of these websites, please note that these websites have their own privacy policies and that we don't accept any responsibility or liability for these policies. Please check these policies before you submit any personal data to these websites. This privacy policy applies solely to the personal data collected by Behçet's UK.
